Coaching Experience: Tennessee (2005-07); Oklahoma (2008-11); Florida State (2012-18) Pitt (2019-present)

Mike Bell enters his eighth season as head coach of the Pitt baseball program in 2025. Bell was hired in July of 2018, becoming the fifth head coach in Pitt baseball history.

During the Mike Bell Era, the Panthers have seen one All-American, six All-Region selections and 11 All-ACC honorees while 16 players have been drafted or signed by MLB organizations. Pitt has amassed 161 wins, with 34 of them coming against ranked opponents, as well as five postseason wins in their five postseason appearances. In 2021, Bell led the Panthers to their first national ranking since 2013. They reached the highest ranking in program history on March 22, 2021, when Baseball America ranked the Panthers as the 14th team in the country. Under Bell, the program has also had their two-best starts to a season in over twenty years. Pitt started the year 10-1 in 2020 and 8-1 in 2024.

Off the field, Pitt has elevated program standards in player development, recruiting, academics and community service with Bell at the helm. During the 2023 fall semester, Pitt earned a program record 3.30 team GPA while also earning their first ever perfect Academic Progress Rate score. Over the last five years, the program has seen 61 student-athletes earn a degree or certificate from the University of Pittsburgh. Pitt also worked a program-record 495 community service hours over the 2024-25 season and have averaged 420 hours per year over the past four seasons.

Pitt has had 12 players sign professional contracts over the last four seasons. Phil Fox and Ryan Andrade became the highest drafted Panthers under Bell when they were each selected in the seventh round of the 2024 MLB Draft. On the recruiting front, Bell and his staff have consistently pieced together talented rosters over the last seven seasons. Per 64Analytics, the Panthers landed a top-5 recruiting class in the ACC in 2025.

Growing the game of baseball, Bell's program has seen four former players prevail in the collegiate coaching ranks recently. Two of which are currently on Pitt's staff in Sky Duff (assistant coach) and Jack Anderson (Director of Baseball Operations). Former Panthers, Matt Gilbertson (pitching coach, UNC Asheville) and Bryce Hulett (assistant coach, State College of Florida) are both succeeding in the next stages of their careers as well.

The Panther baseball program notched another 20+ win campaign under Bell, winning 28 games and clinching a berth in the ACC Tournament for the fifth consecutive season in 2025. Prior to Bell's tenure, Pitt made the ACC tournament just once since joining the league.

Pitt lived up to their "Gritsburgh" slogan in 2025, winning nine games when they trailed in the fifth inning or later. The Panthers took late leads in four of their last five wins in 2025. Perhaps their signature win of the season came in the Backyard Brawl against No. 12 West Virginia. Trailing by four runs in the bottom of the ninth inning, the Panthers roared back to walk off the Mountaineers with five runs in the final frame.

LHP Ethan Firoved earned ABCA/Rawlings All-Region honors in 2025. Firoved was Pitt's go-to, high-leverage, arm out of the bullpen. He earned eight saves and three wins with a team-leading 75 strikeouts.

LHP Ryan Reed and 1B Luke Cantwell were each selected by the San Diego Padres in the 2025 MLB Draft. They became the first pair of Panther teammates to be drafted to the same team in the same draft since 2016. Selected in the 15th round (460 overall), Reed became the ninth pitcher that has been drafted since Bell arrived at Pitt in 2019. While Cantwell, selected in 20th round (610 overall), was Pitt's first position player drafted in three years.

Pitt saw an uptick in their offensive output in 2024 as they scored their most runs (382) and had their second-highest batting average (.282) since 2013. The Panthers would also claim the inaugural Las Vegas Baseball Classic in dominating fashion, scoring 38 runs over two games against Oklahoma and California. RHP Phil Fox earned All-America status in just his first year with the program, becoming Pitt's first All-American since 2016, and the first under Bell. Fox would also go on to earn All-Region and All-ACC honors for his performance on the mound as Pitt's closer. Fox (199th overall) and Ryan Andrade (216th overall) would each be selected in the seventh round of the 2024 MLB Draft in July becoming the highest draft picks of the Mike Bell Era. Jack Sokol signed as an undrafted free agent with the New York Yankees and became the 14th Panther to sign an MLB contract since 2019.

The 2023 season was highlighted with wins over multiple top-ranked programs, including Bell's 100th career win in a shutout over No. 2 Wake Forest. The Panthers would also take the series from No. 7 Virginia, snapping their program record 23-game home win streak. Pitt went on to make the ACC Tournament and take their opening round matchup against No. 8-seeded Notre Dame. Graduate student, Kyle Hess, garnered all-conference recognition for the first time in his illustrious Pitt career in 2023, being named a Third Team All-ACC outfielder. Bell and the Panthers would then watch as RHP Logan Evans (Seattle Mariners) and RHP Dylan Simmons (Cincinnati Reds) were selected minutes from each other in the 2023 MLB Draft.

Pitt continued the program's ascension under Bell in 2022, posting a winning record with 29 victories, which tied for the program's most since joining the conference in 2014. The Panthers recorded five ACC series victories, including triumphs over a pair of top-five ranked squads (Louisville and Clemson). Pitt advanced to the ACC Tournament semifinals for the first time since 2018, logging wins over No. 7-seeded Georgia Tech and No. 2-seeded Louisville. The Panthers ended the regular season with an RPI ranking of 69, the 37th-toughest strength of schedule, 12 wins against quadrant one teams and 10 wins against the NCAA Tournament field.

Pitt saw three Panthers sign MLB contracts following the 2022 season. Catcher Tatem Levins was selected in the eighth round (246 overall) of the 2022 MLB Draft by the Seattle Mariners while right-handed pitchers Billy Corcoran (Arizona Diamondbacks) and Baron Stuart (New York Yankees) would sign undrafted free agent contracts following the draft.
Starting pitchers Matt Gilbertson (Second Team) and Billy Corcoran (Third Team) were named All-ACC selections in 2022, becoming the first tandem of Panther pitchers to earn All-ACC honors in the same season. Gilbertson would also be named to the 2022 ABCA/Rawlings East All-Region Second Team.

The 2021 campaign saw Bell direct Pitt to its most successful season in the ACC. The Panthers set program records for their highest ranking in the polls (No. 14 by Baseball America), consecutive weeks in the polls (nine), RPI (50) and strength of schedule (30). In ACC play, Pitt set program-bests in ACC series wins (six) and ACC victories (16). The Panthers went 18-12 against teams that made the NCAA Regionals, tied for the second-best record against such opponents in the nation. The Panthers won 17 times against quadrant one teams and became just the second team to sweep Florida State and Miami in the same season.

With Bell serving as the pitching coach for the first time since becoming head coach of the Panthers, Mitch Myers was selected in the 12th round of the MLB Draft with the 368th pick by the Oakland Athletics. Myers was one of a program-best four Panthers selected to the All-ACC Third Team, joining Sky Duff, Nico Popa and David Yanni. Duff earned a selection to the ABCA/Rawlings All-East Region Second Team. A member of the 2019 Second Team, Popa became the first Panther to earn All-ACC honors twice. The all-time leader in program history in games played, starts and walks, Yanni had his best season as a Panther in 2021.

COACHES & STAFF

In 2020, Bell guided Pitt to a 10-6 record before the season was cut short due to COVID-19. Revamping the roster with 21 newcomers, Bell led the Panthers to a 10-1 start to the year, tied for the second-best start through 11 games in program history. Pitt's offense played a huge part, ranking second in the nation in doubles per game (2.88), 37th in slugging percentage (.447) and 38th in scoring (7.3 runs per game).

Since 2005, Bell has helped lead three teams to four College World Series appearances – Tennessee (2005), Oklahoma (2010) and Florida State (2012 & 2017). He has coached nine first round draft picks, 36 Top-10 round picks, 94 overall Draft picks, 19 Major Leaguers, and helped guide 12 Top-25 recruiting classes. In 2012, he was named the Perfect Game Assistant Coach of the Year and was named the No. 13 recruiter in the country by D1Baseball.com prior to the 2017 season.

In five of his seven seasons, Florida State pitchers recorded 500 or more strikeouts, including a pair of top 10 seasons in 2017 (640, fifth-most) and 2018 (635, seventh-most). The Seminoles posted a 314-136-0 record in his tenure, reaching a Super Regional on three occasions and advancing to the College World Series twice. Florida State captured three ACC titles in Bell's time in Tallahassee, taking home conference tournament titles in 2015, '17 and '18.

Bell made stops at Oklahoma and Tennessee in his time prior to Florida State. In his first seven seasons at the Division I level, including four at Oklahoma and three at Tennessee, he helped recruit and develop 22 pitchers who were selected in the Major League Baseball draft. That includes three first-round selections – including 2006 No. 1 overall pick Luke Hochevar.

In four seasons at Oklahoma, Bell's pitching staffs established a number of new standards. His 2011 group posted a 3.00 ERA, which was the Sooners' lowest since 1978. Four of his hurlers earned All-Big 12 honors, including Second Team All-American Michael Rocha. The Sooners posted a 41-17 record and were ranked No. 15 in the USA Today/ESPN Coaches poll. In 2010, his pitching staff was instrumental in leading OU back to the College World Series for the first time since 1995.

Beyond his Division I experience, he spent two seasons as the pitching coach and recruiting coordinator at Division II perennial power Florida Southern, where the Mocs twice finished in the top 20 nationally in ERA. He launched his coaching career in 2002 at Brandon High, where he led the team to a district title and a regional runner-up finish as the head coach, earning Hillsborough County Coach of the Year honors.

A left-handed pitcher and first baseman for the Seminoles, Bell reached the College World Series as a player at Florida State in both 1994 and '95. Bell posted a two-year record of 14-4 with a 3.00 ERA and was twice named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education at Florida State in 1996 and previously spent two seasons as a pitcher at Hernando Community College, where he was a two-time All-Suncoast Conference selection. Selected in the 20th round of the 1995 draft by the Montreal Expos, Bell spent six years in the minors, including the final three with the Baltimore Orioles' organization where he reached the Double-A level.

Bell is married to the former Alicia Favarato, a Florida State graduate, and the couple has two children, daughter, Alexis, and son, Kyler.

Levins started all 56 games for the Panthers, leading the squad in batting average (.321), slugging percentage (.613), OPS (1.048), hits (68), extra base hits (27), home runs (16) and total bases (130).

Mesoraco joined the Panthers after spending eight years as a catcher in the big leagues. He was selected to the MLB All-Star Game in 2014 and finished that season with 25 home runs and 80 runs batted, leading all major league catchers in home runs and slugging percentage (.534). He wrapped up his professional tenure with a career-batting average of .232, 58 homers and 192 RBI's.

Selected by the Reds with the 15th overall pick of the 2007 MLB Draft, Mesoraco had a decorated prep career at nearby Punxsutawney Area High School. He set school records in walks, runs, hits, doubles, home runs and stolen bases. PITT BASEBALL HISTORY

The Panthers' roots in collegiate baseball date back to 1869, when the "University Nine" of the Western University of Pennsylvania defeated the Eckfords of East Liberty, 21-20, in a five-inning contest. According to the 1937 edition of the student yearbook, The Owl, the 19th-century slugfest was the "first game of consequence played at the University."

It was not until the following season in 1870 when the "University Nine" lost their first game, and despite the team's earliest successes, competitive baseball was only played intermittently for the next two decades. Toward the turn of the century from 1888-94, however, baseball flourished at the Western University of Pennsylvania, helping to define a period that has been referred to as the University's first "golden age" in athletics (1892-94).

Official sponsorship of the baseball program from the University came in 1907 and was followed by several changes to the school's identity. In 1908, the Western University of Pennsylvania changed its name to the University of Pittsburgh after relocating its campus to Pittsburgh's Oakland neighborhood and, as part of the move, adopted the "Panthers" nickname in 1909. It was also around this time when Dick Hoblitzell made his major league debut with the Cincinnati Reds (Sept. 5, 1908), becoming the first Pitt player to ever break into the big leagues. Hoblitzell's 1,130 hits and .278 batting average are the best career offensive marks of any former Panther in Major League Baseball.

Several highly credentialed names came to head Pitt's baseball team shortly after the University officially recognized the program. Thomas McCreery, the Panthers' first head coach on record to have played in the majors (1895-1903), anchored the 1912 unit in his first and only year with the team. Sam Wilson, Pitt's team captain in 1914, replaced Mays Edmundson (1913-14) in 1915. According to The Gazette Times, Wilson "was so popular with his teammates and showed such a fine knowledge of baseball that he was the unanimous choice for the leadership position."

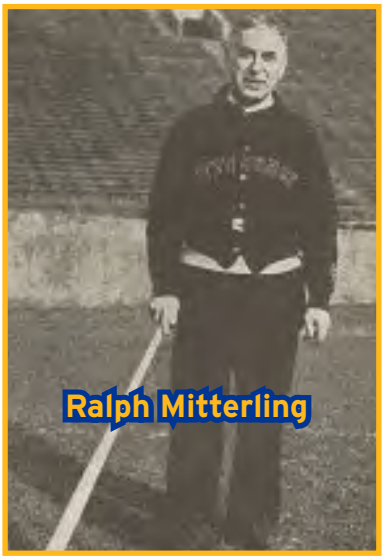
James DeHart, one of the most renowned Panther athletes of the early-20th century, suited up with the baseball team to make history in the spring of 1916. Though he was not the first to engage in multiple sports at the University, DeHart did become Pitt's first four-sport letterman. Best known for quarterbacking the Panthers' undefeated team in 1916 under the tutelage of Glenn "Pop" Warner, DeHart lettered in baseball, basketball, football and track and field at Pitt.

Walter Blair, who was a catcher for the New York Highlanders of the American League from 1907-11, coached the Panthers in 1917. At the end of the season, Pitt suspended all baseball activity due to waning interest in the sport. Not only was World War I a leading factor in the program's disbandment, but so too was the irregularity of scheduling, the lack of proper facilities and the growing popularity of football.

Three years passed without baseball at the University (1918-20) before Dick Harley, who played 740 games in the major leagues (1897-1903), resurrected the Panthers' program in 1921 with notable success. In the first season of the "Harley Era," Pitt went 13-6, recording the most wins in a single season during Harley's tenure as head coach. The Panthers struggled throughout much of 1922, but they did take two games from Penn State at the end of the season to knock the Nittany Lions out of contention for the Tri-State Championship. Team captain Steve Swetonic, who debuted with the Pittsburgh Pirates on April 17, 1929 as a reliever, helped Pitt rebound to win 11 of 17 games in 1923 and to finish at 8-3 in a shortened 1924 season.

All in all, Harley's Panthers excelled on the field during his four years at the helm and his influence on the program made him one of the most respected coaches in collegiate baseball. As noted in the 1923 edition of The Owl, "Coach Harley's years of experience served to great advantage in molding the genuine fighting spirit that characterized the backbone of the team."

In 1925, Pitt baseball entered its second hiatus in eight years and did not return until 1939 when Ralph Mitterling (1939-54, 89-106-1), the third consecutive Panther head coach with a background in Major League Baseball (1916, Philadelphia Athletics), took over the team (baseball has since been played continuously at the University).



The modern era of Pitt baseball was welcomed with the first ever game played at Pitt Stadium, a multi-purpose facility located at the heart of the University's campus, on May 5, 1939. Lefty Drobniewski set records in batting average (.458) and slugging percentage (.750) during the 1939 season - feats that remained untouched for the next 11 and 10 years, respectively. Ed Raymond, who was a member of the Panthers' only basketball team to advance to the Final Four (1941), also made his baseball debut in 1939.

1941 was the best season of Mitterling's first decade with the program, as it featured a seven-game win streak and undefeated record (3-0) against longtime rival West Virginia en route to a 9-3 overall finish. Pitt encountered a bout of misfortunes from 1942-48, going 16-41 during that time. Reviving the "genuine fighting spirit" of Panther teams of the past, the 1948 Pitt baseball team battled in three extra-innings affairs during its 11-game season, with the first of which lasting 15 innings against Juniata in a heartbreaking 3-2 loss (currently tied for the longest game in program history).

The program took a turn in a much more positive direction in 1949 when the Panthers won 11 games for the first time since 1923 behind the production of Frank Papariello, whose .808 slugging percentage still stands as the team's single-season record. In 1950, George Lowe topped Drobniewski's single-season batting record with a .474 mark of his own and also recorded a .574 on-base percentage (program record). After floating under and above .500 in 1951 (9-10) and 1952 (7-5), an outstanding offensive resurgence paved the way to a 12-6-1 record in 1953. The Panthers won 11 of their last 13 games to finish the season, including a whopping 36-6 victory over I.U.P. (the most runs and largest margin of victory in program history). Dick Shannon also became Pitt's first seven-game winner in

PITT BASEBALL HISTORY

1953, tossing 95.1 innings on the year and working the most complete games (9) recorded by a Panther in a season.

Mitterling's final season at Pitt was highlighted by a 10-7 showing in 1954, capping off a coaching career that certainly cannot be overlooked. Mitterling produced some of the most successful baseball talents in Panthers history with three of his former players making their major league debuts while he was still coaching. Bob Malloy, whose 3.26 career ERA is the lowest of any former Pitt player with more than one season played in Major League Baseball, debuted with the Cincinnati Reds in 1943. Dave Pope (1952, Cleveland Indians), who batted .294 as a rookie, and Russ Kemmerer (1954, Boston Red Sox), each broke into the big leagues in the 1950s as well.

Bobby Lewis (1955-90, 399-383-1), a teacher in the University's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department in the School of Education, was hired as Pitt's new head coach in 1954 and will go down as one of the most storied figures in school history for his work with the Panthers over the course of 36 seasons. As former athletic director Ed Bozik once said, Lewis was "a throwback to the simpler days of college athletics - a full-time faculty member and a coach second."

The Panthers were 34-39 in Lewis' first four seasons (1955-58), during which some of the most esteemed athletes in Pitt history made their baseball debuts. In 1955, Joe Walton, an All-American football player who helped lead the Panthers to consecutive bowl games in 1955 and 1956, appeared in his first collegiate baseball game playing center field. Walton was known to have incredible power at the plate and was described by Lewis as "a very fine ballplayer." In 1957, the Washington Redskins called his name in the second round of the NFL Draft and he later led a prominent coaching career in professional football from 1967-91. Walton often joked about how the curveball was what kept him from continuing to play baseball.

Mike Ditka, praised by Lewis for his ability to cover ground in the outfield, made his Pitt debut on the diamond in 1958. Ditka lettered in baseball, basketball and football for the Panthers and was the fifth overall pick of the 1961 NFL Draft by the Chicago Bears. He has since become a three-time Super Bowl Champion, as a player and as a coach, and has also been enshrined in both the College and Pro Football Hall of Fames.

1959 marked the beginning of a new era for Pitt baseball. The Panthers posted a 14-4 record that season and qualified for their first appearance in the NCAA Tournament, where they lost to Ithaca College, 4-3, in 11 innings in the opening round of the District 2 Regional. Senior shortstop George Schoeppner, whom Lewis considered as one of the best players he ever coached, was the catalyst of Pitt's 1959 team, becoming the Panthers' first-ever All-American and All-Region selection. Lewis' No. 10 and Schoeppner's No. 25 are the only baseball jersey numbers retired by the University.

From 1962-65, Pitt went 59-16 with four consecutive seasons of 11 or more wins. In 1963, the Panthers won the first eight games of the season averaging 10.4 runs per game and were led by the .494 batting average of Bob Cuthbert, topping Lowe's record set in 1950. Both Cuthbert and John Carlisle, who tossed no-hitters against Duquesne and Kent State while becoming the first Pitt pitcher to strike out 100 batters in a season (105), were All-Region selections that year.

The Panthers won 17 games for the second time in as many years in 1965 after opening the season at 10-0, the best start of any team in program history, and shutting out 10 of their opponents (also a program best). Qualifying for its second NCAA Tournament in six years, Pitt fell once again in the first round, this time to No. 7 Lafayette, 4-3, in the Princeton Regional. Fred Mazurek garnered All-American honors at the end of the season after leading the Panthers in batting (.466) and striking out just four times in 73 total at-bats. Pitching, however, defined Pitt's remarkable 1965 campaign. Lee Brueckel, who served as a starter and reliever for the Panthers, led the nation with a 0.68 ERA in 58.1 innings, striking out 63 batters and tossing six complete games (including four shutouts). Dave Blyshak also dominated the pitching charts with his 0.94 ERA. Brueckel (0.84) and Blyshak (1.74) are first and second, respectively, on the program's all-time ERA list.

Only five Pitt pitchers have recorded earned run averages below 1.00, and all five of such marks came between 1965 (Blyshak and Brueckel) and 1970. Don Stock continued the trend of the previous season with a 0.82 ERA in 1966. Dave Welty led the NCAA and set a single-season program record in 1967 with a 0.33 ERA, allowing just two earned runs in 55 innings to go along with a 6-1 record and 89 strikeouts. Welty, who pitched the program's third no-hitter in five seasons that year, is the only Panther to ever record a sub-1.00 ERA and have more than 80 strikeouts in the same season. Three years later, Frank Mincarelli held a 0.74 ERA in Pitt's inaugural season at Trees Field.

The 1970s were a period of offensive might for the Panthers. Ken Macha batted .415 as a junior in 1971 with seven home runs and 31 RBI in Pitt's 18-win season. He collected All-Region honors in 1972 and was drafted in the sixth round by the Pittsburgh Pirates - the Panthers' highest draft pick at the time. Macha went on to play six seasons with the Pirates, Montreal Expos and Toronto Blue Jays and also managed the Oakland Athletics (2003-06) and Milwaukee Brewers (2009-10).

Pitt's offense batted .339 in 1973 and went 10-3 on the season thanks to Jim Sufrin (.447), Paul Quarantillo (.433) and Dan Slain (.388), who each contributed to make the Panthers' lineup one of the nation's most potent congregations of college hitters. In 1974, Pete Martorelli became the best at getting on base in Pitt baseball history when he posted a .581 on-base percentage. Dan DeStout had one of the best offensive seasons ever by a Panther catcher when he batted .435 with five home runs in 1977.

Allen Lachowicz made his freshman debut in 1979, going 3-2 in five starts and recording a 1.50 ERA and 41 strikeouts in 36 innings pitched. Lachowicz was the Panthers' best starting pitcher since George Medich, who played 11 seasons in the big leagues and whose 124 career wins in Major League Baseball are the most by any former Panther. Playing a critical role in Pitt winning 17 of its last 19 games to finish at 25-8 in 1981, Lachowicz completed his junior campaign with a career-best 1.41 ERA and became the University's first and only first-round selection in the MLB Draft (Texas Rangers). Lachowicz struck out Reggie Jackson (Oakland Athletics) twice in his first appearance with the Rangers - a game in which Lewis attended. When injuries closed the door on Lachowicz's young career in 1983, Lewis, who was always one to remind his players, "The degree comes first," advised him to return to school, which he did.

The early 1980s featured several record-breaking feats by Panther players, beginning with Mike Luciow completing two no-hitters in 1981. In 1983, Tony LaCava set records in batting average (.508) and on-base percentage (.623) and Aaron Krause closed his career with a program-best 17 wins and 17 complete games from 1981-84.

Pitt joined the Big East Conference in 1985, transitioning from independent competition to conference clashes with the likes of Seton Hall and St. John's. Aside from Chris Jelic (1985, Kansas City Royals) and Matt Stennett (1986, Houston Astros) being selected in the MLB Draft, Gregg Lamanti (12) and Dave Westwood (11) teaming up to become the first Panther teammates to hit for double-digit home runs in 1987 and Billy Sherbondy being named the 1988 Big East Rookie of the Year, Pitt struggled to make an immediate impact in the Big East. The Panthers finished last in the conference's South Division in four of five seasons from 1985-89 and fell to the bottom of the Big East when divisional play was removed from the conference's format in 1990.

Mark Jackson (1991-97, 183-143-1) was named Pitt baseball's next head coach shortly after Lewis' retirement in 1990, and it did not take long for him to create a buzz in the Big East. Following 15-30 and 25-22 finishes in 1991 and 1992, Jackson led the Panthers to their first appearance in the Big East Tournament in 1993. Pitt opened the season at 17-2 and finished at 30-13 (10-11, Big East) overall, placing sixth in the conference standings.

The Panthers remained steadfast with their winning mentality in 1994, winning 17 of their first 22 games of the season. Pitt went on to post a 36-16-1 (15-5, Big East) record and was crowned the Big East Regular Season Champion to guarantee a second consecutive conference tournament appearance. The Panthers led the nation in stolen bases (207) that year, with Craig Crawley (36), Bob Miller (31), Danny Gonzalez (27), Jason Conti (25) and Josh Tyler (24) carrying the weight on the base paths. Tyler, a First Team All-Big East selection, was also named the 1994 Big East Player of the Year.

Taking 16 of their first 18 games of the season and recording the most wins in program history (39), a record that remained unbroken until 2013, the 1995 Panthers finished fourth in the conference to head to their third-straight Big East Tournament. Unlike the previous two seasons, Pitt cruised through tournament play, defeating Providence, 10-4, in the championship game.

Having secured an automatic bid to the 1995 NCAA Tournament, the newly crowned Big East Tournament Champions advanced to the Mideast Regional in Knoxville, Tenn. The Panthers lost to No. 11 Oklahoma State, 6-3, in the first round but outslugged The Citadel, 12-10, and California, 9-4, in the following games to earn another shot against the Cowboys. Resilient and determined, the Panthers turned to their explosive offense to remain alive in the regional but fell once more to No. 11 Oklahoma State, 15-13, ending the best postseason run in program history. Tedde Campbell, who signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1996, was the most reliable arm on the team that season, setting records in wins (15), games started (16), total appearances (26), innings pitched (135.0) and strikeouts (109). Leading Pitt's offense was Trent Babcock, who batted .352 with 13 home runs and 47 RBI in the best statistical season of his career.

The final two seasons of Jackson's career with the Panthers were not as decorated as the previous three as Pitt failed to gain entry to the Big East Tournament in 1996 and 1997. With growing interest spurring in the collegiate game, the Panthers played their first ever games before crowds gathered at Three Rivers Stadium in 1996, where they defeated West Virginia, 3-1, and lost to Akron, 6-4. Pitt finished below the .500 mark (19-26) in 1997 for the first time since Jackson's first season as head coach, setting into motion a plan that intended to restore the program's prestige with permanence moving forward.

Athletic director Steve Pederson hired Joe Jordano as the Panthers' head coach on November 15, 1997, marking the beginning of a rebuilding project that has delivered an unprecedented amount of growth, productivity and success over the past 19 seasons. Jordano is the winningest coach in program history. Through his emphasis on excellence, integrity and passion, Jordano has played a crucial role in reestablishing the Panthers as a premier northeast program.

Jordano captured his first win with Pitt in the 1998 season opener in an 8-3 win against Northwood on March 2 and picked up his first conference victory against Georgetown, 5-1, on March 22. He was also welcomed by more than $500,000 in renovations to Trees Field in 1999, which included the installment of an AstroTurf infield. Freshman Mike Gonda led the team in batting in 1999 with a .367 average in 47 games played. Joe Lydic hit .336 with 14 home runs and 53 RBI and Steve Dickinson batted .347 with 13 home runs and 47 RBI as well. In 2000, Ben Copeland stole 37 bases to set the program's single-season record for swipes as the Panthers snapped their five-year drought from the Big East Tournament.

Pitt finished above .500 in conference play (14-11) for the first time in five seasons in 2002 and finished with a 36-16-1 overall record. The Panthers started the season at 10-0-1, the second-best start in program history, including a season-opening sweep against Maryland-Eastern Shore where they outscored the Hawks, 34-1, in the series. Brant Colamarino (19) and Brad Rea (18) combined for 37 of the Panthers' 60 home runs that season, with Rea finishing his Pitt career with All-American honors and the most career home runs (49), RBI (198) and total bases (428) in Panthers history.

On May 6, 2003, Pitt played its first ever game at PNC Park, losing to Duquesne in a low-scoring, 2-1 game. The Panthers returned to the Big East Tournament in 2004 following a 38-18 (17-9, Big East) season and hitting 61 home runs (program record) on the year. Jordano earned his first Big East Coach of the Year award that season, P.J. Hiser was named Big East Player of the Year, Nick Evangelista was named Big East Pitcher of the Year and Jim Negrych was named Big East Rookie of the Year. In 2005, Pitt went 33-22 (15-10, Big East) and advanced once more to the conference tournament. In the opening round, the Panthers upset top-seeded No. 23 St. John's, 4-1, but later lost to Notre Dame, 11-4, in their first Big East Tournament championship game since capturing the crown in 1995. Copeland and Negrych were named All-Americans and Robert Brant was named a Freshman All-American that season.

Although Pitt fell to 19-34 (7-19, Big East) in 2008, the Panthers bounced back at 28-21 (13-13, Big East) the following year, defeating West Virginia, 13-12, in a walk-off win on the final day of the season to earn a postseason berth. Chris Sedon batted .398 with a program-best 22 home runs and 62 RBI in 2009, a season in which he collected All-American honors. In 2010, Pitt (38-18) was without Sedon in the lineup, but the Panthers managed to put together the greatest offensive seasons in program history, posting a .364 team-batting average and setting school records in hits (772), runs (531) and RBI (481).

The 2010 Pitt baseball team was the first to have three starting position players with .400-plus batting averages as well, led by Sean Toole (.471), Joe Leonard (.433) and John Schultz (.404). Leonard solidified his reputation as one of the most formidable sluggers in program history when he set records in hits (104), doubles (23) and RBI (71). Schultz, on the other hand, finished first on the single-season list in runs scored (76) and second in hits (91). Complimenting the Panthers' offensive output was strong pitching throughout the entirety of the season, as Corey Baker (11) and Matt Iannazzo (11) became the first duo to have double-digit wins in the same season. Leonard, Pitt's primary closer, also converted a program-best eight saves.

The 2011 season marked the Panthers' inaugural year at Charles L. Cost Field, a state-of-the-art stadium built within the Petersen Sports Complex. Since the gates opened, Pitt has gone 87-54 at home. Nearly 25,000 fans have witnessed some of the program's greatest players in recent memory take the field, including the record-six players taken in the 2011 MLB Draft. Kevan Smith (7th round, Chicago White Sox), a former quarterback at the University who was a catcher and designated hitter for the baseball team, is now regarded as one of the top prospects in the White Sox organization. In 2012, Iannazzo became the program's all-time leader in wins with 28.

The Panthers' 2013 season was one of the most successful seasons the program has ever had, cruising through a record-breaking 42-17 (18-6, Big East) campaign that featured eight weekend series sweeps while finding itself ranked in all five major collegiate baseball polls for the first time in history. Picked to finish seventh in the preseason coaches' poll with no Panthers selected to the preseason all-conference team, Pitt entered its final season as a Big East program off the radar and distant from any demanding expectations. However, the Panthers managed to exceed all predictions by competing for a share of the regular season title on the final day of conference play and seeing a program-best eight players take home Big East honors.

The season began with a three-game series sweep over perennial Missouri Valley Conference power Wichita State, marking the first time the Shockers had been swept at home in 43 seasons. Panthers also swept St. John's in three games during the first weekend of conference play. It was the first time in program history that the Panthers swept the previous season's Big East Tournament Champion in a three-game set as well as being the first time the Red Storm had been swept at home in 17 seasons. April 9th, however, characterized the Panthers' 2013 season. Pitt routed Youngstown State in a 24-7 win on the road and Casey Roche became the first player to hit for the cycle since Leonard in 2010, going 5-for-7 with 10 RBI, including a grand slam, in what was one of the most remarkable individual performances in Pitt baseball history. Roche was named an All-American by NCBWA.

The Panthers ranked seventh nationally in scoring (7.5) and in runs (444), 12th in on-base percentage (.403), 16th in slugging percentage (.448) and 20th in home runs (49). In the conference, Pitt finished first in batting average (.302), on-base percentage, slugging percentage, runs, RBI (394), home runs (by a 20-home run margin over Louisville), total bases (926) and walks (292). They converted 61 double plays on the season as well, which were the most among all conference teams and tied for 10th nationally.

Pitt saw three players get selected in the 2013 MLB Draft, including Ethan Mildren (12th round, Minnesota Twins) and Matt Wotherspoon (20th round, Detroit Tigers), who teamed up to become the first Panthers in history to log more than 100 innings each in the same season, and Elvin Soto (16th round, Arizona Diamondbacks), the team's backstop behind the plate. Mildren and Soto each signed with their respective teams but Wotherspoon would return to lead the weekend rotation in 2014 after opting to remain at the University for his senior season.

On July 1, 2013, the University of Pittsburgh officially joined the Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC), setting the stage for one of the most anticipated eras in Pitt baseball history. With strength and stability now steering the future, the Panthers look to display their belonging in one of the most competitive baseball conferences in the country.

With the first season of competition in the nation's premier baseball conference ahead of them, the Panthers produced one of their most impressive seasons, competing to a record of 11-19 in ACC play and a mark of 22-30 overall. On the season, the Panthers knocked off nationally-ranked teams in No. 17 North Carolina, a sweep of No. 23 Georgia Tech at Charles L. Cost Field, a win over top-ranked Virginia, as well as a win over No. 20 Clemson.

For the second year in a row, the pitching staff posted a sub-four earned run average, following up a program-low 3.59 earned run average in 2013. The 3.97 team ERA from 2014 stands as the second lowest by a Pitt team since at least 1993. Three pitchers - Luke Curtis, Joseph Harvey and Matt Wotherspoon - who helped achieve the feat were selected in the 2014 Major League Baseball draft.

In their second full season as a member of the ACC, the Panthers posted a mark of 20-32 (9-21 ACC), beleaguered by talent lost to the professional draft, injuries that robbed the team of key personnel and improbable bouts of illness.

The Panthers made noise from the very beginning, hammering reigning A-10 champion Saint Louis, 18-1, on February 13 to mark the largest Opening Day margin of victory in school history.

PITT BASEBALL HISTORY

After snow forced the teams to relocate to the USA Baseball National Training Complex in Cary, N.C., Pitt stole game one of its March 7-8 series with No. 1 Virginia, 1-0, to take a game from the Cavaliers while they sat atop the national rankings for the second straight year. T.J. Zeuch fired eight shutout frames, surrendered just four hits, and struck out eight in a dominant outing that saw him get the best of Virginia's reigning All-American and 2014 ACC Co-Pitcher of the Year Nathan Kirby.

On March 15, Pitt's series victory over another ranked foe, No. 11 North Carolina, came in dramatic fashion as senior Eric Hess delivered a walkoff RBI single to right center to take the decisive final game, 3-2. The Panthers had previously won the series opener, 12-9, thanks in part to a three-run single from freshman Charles LeBlanc with the game tied, 9-9, in the seventh.

Pitt's final series of the year was a successful one, as the Panthers hosted and defeated Virginia Tech in two out of three to end the season. Pitt earned back-to-back shutout wins in games one and two, both with a score of 7-0, to mark the first time it had blanked its opponent in consecutive contests since 2011. With the pair of victories, the team ended the season winning four of the final six games -- three of which were played on the road.

The Panthers continued to improve in the 2016 season, one in which the record books were highlighted by the selection of ace righty Zeuch as the 21st overall pick in the MLB Draft. With the pick by the Toronto Blue Jays, Zeuch became the highest drafted player in Pitt history and just the second to be taken in the first round. In addition to Zeuch, Charles Leblanc was taken in the fourth round by the Texas Rangers after posting one of the most prolific seasons in team history. Leblanc won the ACC's batting title and was named to the All-ACC first team after smacking a .405 average. His mark was good for 13th in the nation and the highest in the ACC in seven seasons.

Leblanc's ACC selection was the first postseason ACC award for an individual since the team joined the league in 2013. Zeuch landed on the second team, while Nick Yarnall was named to the third team and Yaya Chentouf landed on the All-Freshman squad.

Pitt went 25-26-0 on the year, finishing with a mark of 10-18 in the ACC, including wins over nationally-ranked programs in No. 6 North Carolina, No. 11 Florida State, No. 14 Clemson and No. 25 Georgia Tech. Despite a hot start to ACC play, the Panthers struggled with tough tests against reigning national champion Virginia and ACC Coastal Division winner Miami as Pitt dropped six straight to end ACC play, narrowly missing the conference tournament.

The Panthers found success in the middle part of the ACC season during the 2017 contest after getting off to a slow start. After opening the year with one of the best starts in recent history, the team fell to 1-5 in ACC action, before a thrilling sweep of Coastal Division Virginia Tech gave the Panthers some much needed momentum. The Panthers would move on to take two-of-three from a solid Duke team in Durham, N.C., and would capture the program's first-ever victory over national powerhouse Miami. Pitt would earn marquee victories over No. 3 North Carolina and No. 20 Wake Forest.

Freshman Alex Amos landed on the ACC'S All-Freshman team, marking the second straight season in which the Panthers earned at least one all-conference selection. Three Panthers would hear their names called in the 2017 MLB First Year Player Draft, as Josh Falk, Isaac Mattson and Josh Mitchell each moved on to pursue professional careers. Teammate Manny Pazos would also earn chance to play at the next level, singing as an undrafted free agent.

The Panthers reached new heights in the 2018 season, earning the program's first ever berth in the ACC Baseball Championship, earning national attention after sweeping pool play with victories over Georgia Tech and top-seeded and nationally ranked North Carolina. The Panthers opened the tournament with a 2-1 victory over the Yellow Jackets as redshirt senior ace Matt Pidich led the team to its first win in the ACC's postseason tournament. Pitt would battle back the following day, stunning top-seeded and eventual College World Series participant North Carolina, 5-4.

Pitt earned its first ever tournament berth after tying an output for ACC wins in a single season. After opening the year 2-7 in the league, Pitt would win its first ever series over Virginia and earn back-to-back series wins over Boston College, Georgia Tech and Miami to fight back into the league's standings.

The Panthers again landed on the All-ACC teams, as both Liam Sabino and Ron Washington Jr. earned the honor. Additionally, freshman Chris Cappas would earn ACC All-Tournament Team recognition, with Sabino and redshirt senior Frank Maldonado earning All-Region honors.

Pitt would be represented well in the draft, as five players earned MLB selections. RJ Freure (sixth round), Matt Pidich (eighth round), Derek West (28th round), Sabino (35th round) and Yasin Chentouf (36th round) continued the Panthers' strong legacy.

The Panthers ushered in a new chapter in July of 2018, as former Florida State Associate Head Coach Mike Bell became the fifth head coach in Pitt baseball history. Bell, who joined the Panthers after serving as an NCAA Division I coach for 14 seasons, including seven at national powerhouse Florida State, led three teams to four College World Series appearances and looks to position the Panthers to national prominence.

After retooling the roster in 2019, the 2020 team showed promise in a season cut short due to COVID. Pitt started 10-1, tied for the second-best start through 11 games in program history. 21 newcomers to the team, the most of any ACC squad, made immediate impacts with over half the position players and two of the weekend starters featuring new starters.

In a season different from any previous year due to COVID, Bell and the Panthers overcame the adversity to turn in the program's best season not only since joining the ACC in 2014, but in decades. Pitt opened the season with four series wins against teams that reached the NCAA Region- als for an 11-4 record to earn a ranking in the five major polls for just the second time in school history: Baseball America (No. 14, a program-best), DIBaseball.com (No. 15), Collegiate Baseball (No. 18), USA TODAY Sports Coaches' Poll (No. 18) and National Collegiate Baseball Writers' Association (No. 20).

After dropping the season-opener to Indiana State, the Panthers responded by outscoring the Sycamores 18-3 to claim the series. The national attention for Pitt however began next week with a sweep of No. 9 Florida State in Tallahassee. The sweep was the first over a top-10 ACC opponent and on the road against any opponent and just the second sweep over a ranked ACC team.

Pitt knocked off another top-ten ACC opponent on the road two weeks later, defeating No. 7 Georgia Tech 11-9 in the opener and then 18-12 in the finale. The 18 runs and 17 RBI's were the most against an ACC opponent. Pitt finished off five-straight weekends on the road with a series-win at Virginia, who reached the College World Series.

The Panthers continued to make history not only in program history, but in the ACC. With a home sweep of No. 15 Miami, Pitt became the second ACC school to sweep Miami and Florida State in the same season. Two more series wins were added against North Carolina and Boston College at home, and Pitt made its second appearance in the ACC Tournament that included its third win over North Carolina in the season. Pitt was almost as close as can be to making the NCAA tournament, finishing as the second-team out in the field announced by the NCAA committee.

Overall, the Panthers set program records for their highest ranking in the polls, consecutive weeks in the polls (nine), RPI (50) and strength of schedule (30). In ACC play, Pitt set program-bests in ACC series wins (six) and ACC victories (16). Pitt went 18-12 against teams that made the NCAA Regionals, tied for the second-best record in the nation. The Panthers won 17 times against Quad-one schools.

Mitch Myers became the highest drafted Panther since 2018. The junior right-hander was selected in the 12th round of the MLB draft with the No. 368 pick by the Oakland Athletics. Myers was one of a program-best four Panthers selected to the All-ACC Third Team: Sky Duff, Nico Popa and David Yanni.

Duff was selected to the ABCA/Rawlings All-East Region Second Team. The third baseman had a breakout campaign in his third year in Pittsburgh and enters 2022 with 21-game reached base and 13-game hitting streaks. A member of the 2019 second-team, Popa is the first Panther to earn All-ACC honors twice. The all-time leader in program history in games played, starts and walks, Yanni had his best season as a Panthers in 2021.

Pitt continued the program's ascension under Bell in 2022, posting a winning record with 29 victories, which tied for the program's most since joining the conference in 2014. The Panthers recorded five ACC series victories, including triumphs over a pair of top-five ranked squads (Louisville and Clemson). The Panthers qualified for the ACC Tournament for the second year in a row and just the third time since joining the league. Pitt advanced to the semifinals for the first time since 2018 as the No. 11 seed, logging wins over No. 7-seeded Georgia Tech and No. 2-seeded Louisville. The Panthers ended the regular season with an RPI ranking of 69, the 37th-toughest strength of schedule, 12 wins against quadrant one teams and 10 wins against the NCAA Tournament field.

Starting pitchers Matt Gilbertson (Second Team) and Billy Corcoran (Third Team) were named All-ACC selections, becoming the first tandem of Panther pitchers to earn All-ACC honors in the same season. Gilbertson was also named to the 2022 ABCA/Rawlings East All-Region Second Team Corcoran signed as an undrafted free agent with the Arizona Diamondbacks after ranking among the ACC leaders in fewest walks allowed (1st; 8), innings pitched (8th; 85.1) and wins (T-8th; 7).

Catcher Tatem Levins was selected in the eighth round (No. 246) of the 2022 MLB Draft by the Seattle Mariners, becoming Pitt's highest draft pick since 2018 and the 94th draft selection Bell has worked with during his coaching career.

Right-handed pitcher Baron Stuart was also signed by the New York Yankees as an undrafted free agent following the 2022 campaign. He appeared in a team-high 27 games out of the bullpen and logged a team-high seven saves for the Panthers, which ranked fifth in the Atlantic Coast Conference and tied for the fourth-most in a single season in program history.

The 2023 season was highlighted with wins over multiple top-ranked programs, including a shutout win over No. 2 Wake Forest on a Friday night in April. That would be more than just a win for Bell however, as it was his 100th win at Pitt and the 100th win as a head coach. The week prior, Pitt traveled to Charlottesville, VA and took the series from No. 7 Virginia, snapping their program record 23-game home win streak. Pitt won 24 games and competed in the ACC Tournament for the third consecutive season under Coach Bell.

Graduate student, Kyle Hess, garnered all-conference recognition for the first time in his illustrious Pitt career in 2023, being named a Third Team All-ACC outfielder.

In June, Bell and the Panthers would watch as two of their pitchers were selected minutes from each other during the 2023 MLB Draft. Logan Evans was the first Panther off the board, being selected in the 12th round (367 overall) by the Seattle Mariners. RHP Dylan Simmons was taken shortly after, going in the 15th round (438 overall) to the Cincinnatti Reds.

Pitt saw an uptick in their offensive output in 2024 as they scored their most runs (382) and had their second-highest batting average (.282) since 2013. The Panthers would claim the inaugural Las Vegas Baseball Classic in dominating fashion, scoring 38 runs over two games against Oklahoma and California. Pitt's 8-1 start was their second best start to a season since 2022. The Panthers would go on to win 26 games in 2024 and yet again clinch a berth in the ACC Tournament.

RHP Phil Fox earned All-America status in just his first year with the program, becoming Pitt's first All-American since 2016, and the first under Bell. Fox would also go on to earn All-Region and All-ACC honors for his performance on the mound as Pitt's closer.

Fox (199th overall) and Ryan Andrade (216th overall) would each be selected in the seventh round of the 2024 MLB Draft in July becoming the highest draft picks of the Mike Bell Era. Jack Sokol signed as an undrafted free agent with the New York Yankees and became the 14th Panther to sign an MLB contract since 2019.

The Panther baseball program notched another 20+ win campaign under Bell, winning 28 games and clinching a berth in the ACC Tournament for the fifth consecutive season in 2025. Prior to Bell's tenure, Pitt made the ACC Tournament just once since joining the league.

Pitt lived up to their "Gritsburgh" slogan in 2025, winning nine games after they trailed in the fifth inning or later. The Panthers took late-inning leads in four of their last five wins of the 2025 season. Perhaps their signature win of the year came in the Backyard Brawl against No. 12 West Virginia. Trailing by four runs in the bottom of the ninth inning, the Panthers roared back to walk off the Mountaineers with five runs in the final frame.

Their most dramatic win came in the first round of the ACC Tournament against College World Series participant Louisville. After the Panthers relinquished a late-inning lead, Luke Cantwell blasted a two-run home run in the bottom of the eighth inning which gave Pitt a 13-11 lead. Left-handed closer, Ethan Firoved, shut the door on the Cardinals in the top of the ninth inning to earn his eighth save of the year as the Panthers moved on to the second round.

Firoved earned ABCA/Rawlings All-Region honors in 2025. He was Pitt's go-to, high-leverage, arm out of the bullpen. He earned eight saves and three wins with a team-leading 75 strikeouts.

LHP Ryan Reed and 1B Luke Cantwell were each selected by the San Diego Padres in the 2025 MLB Draft. They became the first pair of Panther teammates to be drafted to the same team in the same draft since 2016. Selected in the 15th round (460 overall), Reed became the ninth pitcher that has been drafted since Bell arrived at Pitt in 2019. While Cantwell, selected in 20th round (610 overall), was Pitt's first position player drafted in three years.
